TTC strike ban being fast-tracked

There will be about six hours' worth of public hearings on bill over two days before it goes to final vote in provincial legislature as early as March 24

TTC riders can rest easy there will be no more transit strikes as the Ontario government closed debate Thursday on a bill declaring subways, streetcars and buses an essential service.

That means the ban on strikes or lockouts should be in place by the time the TTC's latest contract with unionized workers expires March 31, said Labour Minister Charles Sousa.

"We're sensitive to those timelines. We want to make certain that everyone's aware of what the rules will be."

TTC work stoppages cost the economy an estimated $50 million daily, with the last being a Friday walkout in April 2008.

Toronto Mayor Rob Ford and city council requested the law to make sure that the TTC's 1.5 million riders aren't left stranded again. Premier Dalton McGuinty — whose Liberals hold 19 of 23 Toronto seats heading into the Oct. 6 provincial election — was ready to comply.

"That's unacceptable for a bill that really does take away the fundamental rights of workers."
NDP LEADER ANDREA HORWATH ON THE CHOICE TO "RAM THROUGH" THE BILL WITHOUT MORE CONSIDERATION

Ford has been pushing for measures that would allow traditional bargaining over new contracts but send any outstanding disputes to binding arbitration.

While that would prevent strikes, observers have warned that settlements on wages and other matters decided by arbitrators can be higher than negotiated deals.

NDP Leader Andrea Horwath said she's disappointed the Liberals have decided to push ahead the bill, calling the six hours of public hearings "truncated."

New TCHC board in 1 month: Ford

Mayor urges tenant reps to follow their colleagues and resign ◗ CEO Keiko Nakamura says she won't quit

Toronto Mayor Rob Ford says he expects to have a new Toronto Community Housing board in place within a month, and intends to have his city manager run the corporation in the interim.

Those remarks followed the stunning resignation of the chair of the TCHC board and all six other citizen members Thursday morning, amid a scandal involving expenses and purchasing practices.

Two tenant reps on the board said they plan to stay until they hear otherwise from the tenants who chose them, but Ford is urging them to step aside as well.

Ford voiced his intentions after a luncheon speech in which he welcomed the mass resignation. "They've all resigned and we'll be turning it over to the city manager (Joe Pennachetti)," he said.

Councillor and board member Frances Nunziata said Ford would table a motion at Tuesday's council meeting to officially "dismantle" the current board. She said she expected to resign but hoped to be reappointed.

Keiko Nakamura, the CEO, acknowledged there had been inappropriate spending and that TCHC had "failed." She apologized to residents. But some tenants in attendance spoke passionately that she should remain in her job.

Ford and Coun. Doug Ford, his brother, have told associates they want Derek Ballantyne, Nakamura's predecessor when some of the transgressions took place, out of his current job as chief operating officer of city agency Build Toronto.

Doug Ford, vice-chair of Build's board, spoke to Ballantyne on Thursday, a city hall source said, "but Derek is still in his job, probably because they have no legal grounds to fire him." The Build board is expected to have a teleconference Friday to discuss Ballantyne's future.

Cuban ballet dancers flee troupe for Toronto

Unlikely they will be denied refugee status unless deemed a threat to Canada: Immigration lawyer

Four Cuban ballet dancers have holed up in Toronto after abandoning a travelling troupe from their country during a stop in Montreal.

A fifth member of the National Ballet of Cuba remains in Montreal, where the dancers left the troupe after a performance last month.

Elier Bourzac, 26, told the Montreal Gazette that Canada provides more artistic and economic opportunities than his homeland.

"My reason for staying is artistic," Bourzac told the newspaper. "As far as Canada goes, I like Canada's way of life better than that of other countries where I've toured."

1974 Toronto was the scene of the ballet world's most sensational defection when the Soviet dancer Mikhail Baryshnikov fled the Kirov Ballet after a performance at O'Keefe Centre in 1974.

Bourzac is remaining in Canada with his wife, Patricia Gonzalez, 24, and three others, including Jorge Villazon, 32, Hugo Rodriguez, 20, and Yadil Suarez, 22.

National Ballet of Canada Catherine Chang would not say if the dancers are auditioning with the company "because it's a confidential process."

Toronto immigration lawyer, Barbara Jackman, said the Cubans would merely have to apply for refugee status to set that process in motion.

Paid-duty rules cost taxpayers: Report

Unnecessarily strict rules for employing paid-duty police officers are costing Toronto taxpayers as much as $2 million each year, a city audit has found.

The official findings won't be released for weeks, but a draft copy obtained by the Toronto Star recommends reviewing some "debatable" permit criteria, particularly for road work.

"When construction takes place close to a signalized intersection, there are certainly situations where a paid duty officer would be needed to direct traffic," the report says. "However, there are also situations where the use of warning signs, barriers and other devices ... would be sufficient." The auditor's findings mirror those of a December 2009 Star investigation that found private companies, taxpayers and community groups were forced to waste millions of dollars hiring paid-duty officers for jobs that could be done by crossing guards or even pylons.

Affair fair play: Judge

Businessman alleged bad faith Still owes ex-wife $250,000

When Merleen D'Andrade signed her last marriage contract with Toronto millionaire Alvin Schrage four years ago, she didn't tell him she was having an affair.

Nor, the much older and wealthier man claims, did she tell him she was thinking of leaving their marriage of six years.

In a decision released this week, a judge ruled she needn't have done either, because marriage contracts require financial, not sexual, honesty.

Ontario Superior Court Justice Harriet Sachs ordered Schrage, 73, to pay his former wife the $250,000 still owing.

"I felt, like, vindicated," D'Andrade, 46, said Thursday in a phone interview from British Columbia, where she now lives.

"It's been three years of needless fighting and this was such a great relief."

Oakville recovers half a million

$1B TransCanada could sue for $1 billion over the controversial cancellation.

Oakville Mayor Rob Burton says the town has recovered nearly $500,000 in legal costs from the company that planned to build a now-dead $1.2-billion power plant in the community.

Burton credited town staff for their hard work to win back $493,100 it took to defend several lawsuits by Alberta-based TransCanada Energy, which challenged bylaws governing the proposed project.

"I'm thrilled and proud of our staff," Burton told the Toronto Star on Thursday. "It speaks to the diligence of our staff.

"It matters who works for you. You've got to have the best and brightest, and here's proof of the benefit that approach."

Energy Minister Brad Duguid scrapped the huge power-generation plant in October after months of determined opposition from local residents. After the decision, TransCanada abandoned all four legal proceedings against the town.

Burton said opposition to the plant was portrayed as a fight against a particular project.

"But our concept was to fight to protect the health and safety of the community," he explained. "People expect us to protect them from the negative impacts.

"We got the result that people wanted, which is a safer and healthier community."

Last month, NDP energy critic Peter Tabuns accused the province of stonewalling attempts to find out how much it will cost taxpayers to compensate the Calgary company after the Liberals abruptly cancelled its contract to build the plant.

Bill would expedite freezing of rogue funds

Canada is taking aim at dictators with legislation that would allow the government to freeze the assets of people tied to corrupt regimes like Libya.

Foreign Affairs Minister Lawrence Cannon announced the Freezing Assets of Corrupt Regimes Act on Thursday, saying Canada wants to support all countries that seek to shun tyranny and embrace democracy.

"Recent developments in the Middle East and North Africa have shown the world how important it is to have legislation in place to allow for a quick response to ensure that foreign dictators cannot hide their ill-gotten wealth in our country," he said.

The legislation would allow the federal government to quickly freeze and seize assets of despots and members of corrupt regimes upon official request.

Harper plays name game

Prime Minister sent out notice prescribing use of 'Harper Government' — in place of 'Government of Canada' — in federal communications [illegible] rules.

Public servants from four different line departments told The Canadian Press the instruction to use "Harper Government" came from "the Centre" — meaning the Prime Minister's Office and the Privy Council Office that serves the Prime Minister.

None would speak on the record for fear of retribution. It's a well-grounded concern given the treatment of a senior government scientist who was fired in 2006 after rebelling against a directive to use "Canada's new government" in government communications.

FRED CHARTRAND/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Andrew Okulitch was subsequently reinstated after his story went public, and the Conservatives finally retired the "Canada's new government" handle after 21 months in office.

The "Harper Government" moniker rose to prominence in 2009, when its use was noted in light of a controversy over Conservative MPs posing with gi-ant novelty government cheques bearing the party logo and MPs' signatures.

"It is not the Harper Government, it is the Government of Canada. It's my government and it's your government."
MEL CAPPE, FORMER CLERK OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL

Since December, "Harper Government" has returned with a vengeance, sprouting like mushrooms across departmental communications.

Treasury Board spokesman Robert Bousquet said by email "the use of the expression 'Harper Government' is not prohibited by either the Treasury Board's Federal Identity Program Policy nor the communications policy of the Government of Canada."

Bousquet added: "In fact, it's factual in that it is the government of the day."

"It is one thing for journalists or even the public to use the more partisan 'Harper government,' but it is another thing for the state to equate the Government of Canada with the leader of the governing party," said Jonathon Rose, a specialist in political communications at Queen's University.

Women protesters massacred by troops

Six killed as Ivory Coast leader steps up his fight to stay in office

Soldiers backing Ivory Coast's defiant leader mowed down women protesting his refusal to leave power in a hail of gunfire on Thursday, killing at least six.

The women were cut down in Abobo, an Abidjan suburb.

Mohamed Dosso, an assistant to the mayor of Abobo, said an armoured personnel carrier and several pickups showed up as the women were protesting.

One of the women was "torn to pieces" by the gunfire.

"We could never imagine that they could open fire on women," said Dosso.

3 The three-month-old crisis in the West African country has entered a new level of intensity. President Laurent Gbagbo is proving he will go to any lengths to stay in office.

Sirah Drane, 41, who helped organize the march, said: "Opening fire on unarmed women? It's inconceivable."

Ivory Coast President Laurent Gbagbo has refused to cede power after a bitter election that international observers say he lost.

Speed dating will leave you lonely: Study

Researchers found people can't handle too much variety Most leave speed-dating events single

SYDNEY HARBOUR BRIDGE CLIMB/GETTY IMAGES

Fourteen single members of dating site RSVP pose on the Sydney Harbour Bridge in Australia on Valentine's Day. The event allowed individuals to test their luck at love 134 metres above the water.

The old adage that variety is the spice of life falls on deaf ears when it comes to speed dating, a new study out of the U.K. shows.

In the March edition of the journal Biology Letters, researchers found that speed dating rarely leads to successful dating connections.

They found speed dating presents too many unnatural choices, leading people to avoid making decisions or, more often than not, leaving such an event single.

Marco Francesconi, a professor of economics at the University of Essex, and colleague Alison Lenton, a lecturer in the department of psychology at the University of Edinburgh, found that people can handle only so much variety before their decision-making skills break down.

They came to their conclusions after analyzing decisions made by 1,870 male and 1,868 female participants in more than 80 commercially run speed-dating events. At each event, participants met members of the opposite sex on three-minute dates. They reported their decisions within 48 hours.

As the number of options increased, the researchers found, the number of matches decreased. The majority of the participants left the speed-dating events single.

Britain releases its X-Files ◗ Some hoaxes, some legit mysteries ◗ More than 8,500 pages represent the largest single release of classified UFO documents from Britain

THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES OF BRITAIN/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Real-life X-Files

- Photographed. One file, without elaboration, includes a colour photograph of a UFO alongside a Royal Air Force Lancaster bomber display in East Yorkshire in 2004.
- Hoax. Four police forces, bomb disposal units, the army and the ministry's intelligence branch mobilized on Sept. 4, 1967 to investigate a potential "alien invasion" that turned out to be a hoax by engineering students from Farnborough Technical College.

Britain's secret X-Files, released and unclassified Thursday, reveal hundreds of investigations of unidentified flying objects, some genuine mysteries and a few slapstick encounters.

"These are the real-life X-Files," said Nick Pope, a former UFO investigator for the British government in his assessment of the release.

"Most UFO sightings had conventional explanations, but a small percentage remained unexplained. These included cases where UFOs were seen by police officers, chased by pilots and tracked on radar."

The documents were released in a series of responses to Freedom of Information requests.

"Whatever you think about UFOs, the release of these files shines a light on one of the most intriguing subjects ever studied by the British government," said Pope on his website.

One incident in the U.S., known as the Rendlesham Forest incident, involved U.S. Air Force soldiers reporting unexplained lights and aircraft over two or three days in the Suffolk forest near their base.

Documents on the 1980 Rendlesham Forest incident have been destroyed, "even though other files from the surrounding years have survived." Defence officials warned that letting the public know about the disappearance "could be interpreted to mean that a deliberate attempt had been made to eradicate the records." TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

More Quotes = More Savings On Car Insurance

Do You Love Shopping Around For The Best Deal?

If you're like most people, you'll often spend hours doing research, checking flyers, looking for specials, and running from one store to another to make sure you get the best possible price on everyday items such as; clothes, electronics, furniture, and even groceries. Nothing beats the thrill of knowing you paid less for something by shopping at one place instead of the other, right? It all adds up – the time you invest and knowing where to go to get the best deals could end up saving you a bundle in the long run.

When Was The Last Time You Shopped for Car Insurance?

Sadly, even the smartest shoppers often don't spend nearly the same amount of time and energy shopping for car insurance as they do for other items. After all, car insurance can be confusing, it never goes "on sale" (it only seems to get more expensive), it isn't much "fun" to buy, and it seems like no one place always has the best prices. But what if one place compared the rates from over 30 insurance companies? And what if it would only take about 10 minutes? And what if you could end up saving hundreds, or even thousands of dollars? This is where InsuranceHotline.com can help by providing a free unbiased rate comparison service for your driving profile that can connect you with the lowest rate available through our large network of licensed brokers and agents.

What's The Quickest And Easiest Way To Pay Less?

In the end, saving on car insurance isn't much different than saving on everyday items. You simply need to search for that "better deal", check around for competing quotes, and know where to look. The advantage of starting your process with InsuranceHotline.com is that you only have to go to one place that accesses the rates from over 30 insurance companies, saving you the time and frustration of getting quotes individually from different insurers. In fact, you don't even have to leave the comfort of your own home to find out how much you could be saving on your car insurance.

Don't Be Fooled By Others Offering To "Compare Quotes"

Unlike most of its competitors, InsuranceHotline.com does not sell insurance, is not a licensed broker or agent, and is not owned in whole or in part by an insurance company. This allows InsuranceHotline.com to be unbiased when providing insurance quotes and keeps its focus solely on finding lower insurance rates for consumers. By contrast, most websites offering to "compare insurance quotes" are owned by or affiliated with insurance brokers or agents and are therefore only capable of quoting rates from the limited number of insurance companies they represent, typically no more than 4 or 5.

Rate Comparison

| Driving Record | Lowest Price | Highest Price | Savings |

| Clean Record | $958 | $2,213 | $1,255 |
| 1 Ticket | $1,018 | $2,552 | $1,534 |

Kenney in hot water over Tory fundraising

Immigration minister is one of Harper's most trusted lieutenants Touted as possible leadership successor

Immigration Minister Jason Kenney is being accused of breaking parliamentary rules by using his MP letterhead to raise funds for a Conservative party campaign.

The NDP says Kenney's office mistakenly sent a letter to New Democrat MP Linda Duncan asking for money for a "Conservative Ethnic Paid Media Strategy."

The letter says the party needs "an additional $200,000 of financial commitment" from various Conservative riding associations to make the campaign successful.

"Given the current political environment, we hope to have commitments by March 11, 2011," the letter states. The attached campaign outline appears to lay bare Conservative plans for a spring election, referring to a $378,000 "pre-writ" ethnic media buy beginning March 15 and lasting for two weeks.

The letter is signed by Kasra Nejatian, director of multicultural affairs in Kenney's office. New Democrat Pat Martin calls the letter a partisan "shakedown" by the immigration minister that should result in his resignation. Martin said the Conservative government "flagrantly, in the most cavalier way, abuse all the rules surrounding offices and letterhead and parliamentary tools and equipment to shake down money for an advertising campaign."

Obama pledges to speed up U.S. aid to train, equip Mexican forces to help in their efforts in the drug war

President Barack Obama and Mexican President Felipe Calderon agreed Thursday to deepen their co-operation in combating drug violence and declared a breakthrough in efforts to end a long-standing dispute over cross-border trucking.

During a joint news conference at the White House, Obama praised Calderon for his "extraordinary courage" in fighting the violent drug cartels that have been responsible for deaths on both sides of the border.

Calderon's visit comes three weeks after U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement agent Jaime Zapata was shot to death in northern Mexico with a gun smuggled in from the U.S.

"His death must urge us to work together to ensure a prosperous and peaceful future for our region," Calderon said

"Mexico has a full partner with the United States. Our people have a right to be safe in their communities."
PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA

The incident raised questions in the U.S. about Mexico's ability to control violence and has Obama administration officials considering arming U.S. agents working across the border.

An Obama administration official said the two leaders agreed to a phased-in plan that would authorize both Mexican and U.S. long-haul carriers to engage in cross-border operations provided the Mexican trucks meet U.S. safety standards. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Power eludes women at big firms: Study

Number of women in senior management rose by less than one percentage point over two years

As the world marks the 100th anniversary of International Women's Day next week, a study suggests few Canadian women hold the reins of power at big companies.

The 2010 Catalyst Census looked at women senior officers at the Financial Post 500 companies. It found 17.7 per cent of women were senior officers as of June 1, up only slightly from 16.9 per cent in 2008.

"While there's much to celebrate over the last 100 years, what our research shows is that women continue to be underrepresented in leadership," said Catalyst spokeswoman Deborah Gillis.

RENE JOHNSTON/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

▶ Deborah Gillis

Canadians might be surprised that 142 companies listed, or 30 per cent, had no women in charge of a principle business unit, board-elected officers or policymakers, she said.

Among these are Bombardier, AbitibiBowater, Apotex and Transat A.T. Inc. They declined comment because they had not seen the census.

What was encouraging to Gillis was that the number of public companies listed with 25 per cent or more women senior officers rose 7.7 points in the past two years.

At the Bank of Nova Scotia, nine of its 21 senior officers were women: Almost 43 per cent. Companies with the highest percentage of women senior officers were Coast Capital Savings at 77.8 per cent, followed by State Farm Group, Dundee Corp. and Lululemon Athletica.

BP executives denied bonuses after spill

BEN STANSALL/AFP/GETTY IMAGES

▶ Bob Dudley

BP is blocking bonuses to executives who oversaw operations in the Gulf of Mexico during last year's disastrous well blowout, including former CEO Tony Hayward and former production head Andy Inglis.

The London-based oil company's annual report also revealed Thursday that new CEO Bob Dudley decided to forgo his 2010 bonus.

BP PLC said the board's remuneration decisions for 2010 were dominated by the scale and impact of the Gulf spill, which began with the April 20 explosion on the Deepwater Horizon rig that killed 11 workers and led to the worst oil spill in U.S. history. BP faces massive fines in the United States and a raft of compensation cases.

Dudley, who said it was a "painful year," was the only executive director to receive a salary increase, taking his base earnings to $1.18 million US from $750,000 on his promotion to CEO in October.

One of Dudley's first steps as CEO was to declare that incentive pay would in the future be linked to safety performance.

Mississippi shrimper James A. Miller, who estimates he lost up to $70,000 in revenue due to the oil spill, said the BP executives should be held accountable for the "poor decisions they've made."

"Taking money from them is the least they could do," Miller said.

▶ The author's new book, The Underground Railroad: The Long Journey to Freedom in Canada, is available at Chapters Indigo, or through Amazon.

5 MINUTES WITH: AUTHOR LD CROSS

The Ottawa-based author has written a new book that chronicles the history of the Underground Railroad in Canada.

What attracted you to this topic?
I thought the Underground Railroad was one of the great escape stories of North America. And it was also one of the great people-movement stories. We think of the European explorers coming over here in small ships, but we don't really think of the number of slaves who came from the U.S. into Canada.

Is there something you found particularly inspiring about the men and women of the Railroad?
One story I found truly inspiring was that of a young girl who came with her parents to Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia. Rose Fortune was her name, and as a young woman she started meeting the ships coming up from Boston with a wheelbarrow and she would take people's baggage and trunks to the hotels. She added to her business by providing travellers with a wakeup call so they wouldn't miss their departing ship. In addition, she added one-horse-drawn freight wagon. This eventually became Lewis Transfer, the only black-owned, interprovincial transport system in the Maritimes.

Why do you think Canadians had a more progressive position on slavery?
I think it probably started because the British parliament abolished slavery in 1834, so that was much before the Emancipation Proclamation in the U.S. after the Civil War. So possibly we'd just been slave-free longer than the Americans.

What can we still learn today from the Railroad experience?
Although people came to Canada because it was perceived to be a free and open society, the people who came here did experience prejudice and discrimination. Many who had property next to black settlements were very afraid their property values would fall. Also, many of the black immigrants returned to the U.S. after the end of the Civil War in 1865.... Many because quite simply they faced similar types of prejudice here. It wasn't like the end of the rainbow and the grass was not greener on the other side of the St. Lawrence.

Science of locking lips

Worth Mentioning

Sheril Kirshenbaum, a researcher at the University of Texas at Austin, has compiled a motherlode of fragmented studies and observations from historians and sociologists, brain experts and animal-watchers in a surprisingly slim and definitely curious new book, The Science of Kissing: What Our Lips Are Telling Us.

Her conclusion? Inconclusive. The act of "osculation" — in technical parlance — is ingrained in more than 90 per cent of cultures around the world. If they don't place lips on lips — or lips elsewhere — they lick or nibble with the same goals in mind.

Is a kiss really ever just a kiss?

MARIO TAMA/GETTY IMAGES

If we could unravel its origins, Kirshenbaum surmises, we could unlock a trove of evolutionary and physiological mysteries that might carry the kiss from merely interesting to incredibly valuable.

Scientists can't decide whether kissing is instinctual (newborns pucker for their first taste of mother's milk), cultural (learned, that is, for joy or survival) or deeper still (ingrained in our very DNA) — or all of the above.

The German language alone has 30 words for kissing, including one, "nachkussen," which is a kiss to compensate for those that have not occurred, according to Kirshenbaum.

Metro Minute with the city's first cab

Think of all the times you've hailed a cab. Your mind probably consisted of two things: getting to your destination and how could they let that creepy bachelor back for another season?

You probably weren't thinking about the fact that the precursor to public transportation in Toronto came from two enterprising former slaves from Kentucky. But it did. By 1834, Thornton and Lucie Blackburn separately escaped to Canada and, noticing a lack of proper public transport, they set up their own taxicab company called The City. Thornton designed, built and operated the horse-drawn cab, eventually paving the way for your 2 a.m. weekend ride home.

Matt Damon and Emily Blunt play star-crossed lovers in The Adjustment Bureau.

Damon & Blunt shine

The Reel Guys debate the merits of The Adjustment Bureau On screen chemistry of Blunt and Damon help lift genre-bending film to another level

Reel Guys
RICHARD CROUSE & MARK BRESLIN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Richard Crouse: Mark, I really liked this movie even though I can't really tell you what it is. It's sci-fi, but it's also an effective romance. It's also an action movie that is quite funny. It's all that and more, which makes it kind of hard to pigeonhole. Do you think that vagueness will hurt it at the box office?

Mark Breslin: I liked the movie too, although I suppose it was all part of the plan. I imagine the hope would be that all those genres will each bring in its own audience, which is possible. I think if you liked The Truman Show or Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind, or even The Box, this movie may be for you, although its far less menacing than those films. What might hurt it at the box office is its intelligence.

Plot synopsis

- Matt Damon and Emily Blunt play star-crossed lovers who fell in love at first sight, but somehow are kept apart for years. When they have a second chance meeting he becomes determined not to let her go, but the mysterious men from the Adjustment Bureau are just as determined to keep them apart.
- Ratings:
  Richard ●●●½
  Mark: ●●●●

RC: As far as box office goes I think the thing that this movie really has going for it is the chemistry between Matt Damon and Emily Blunt. Sparks fly between them, especially in their scene on the New York City bus. It's sexy, flirty and lots of fun. They are completely believable as a couple and as an audience member I was pulling for them.

MB: Yes, and I'm glad they let Emily Blunt keep her British accent — a sign of a superior movie. But I really think it's an idea movie as much as a romance. It's a preposterous premise, but everything proceeds logically once you accept it. But my complaint is that the details are so arbitrary: the doors, the hats, the rain. Oh, and why are there no women in The Adjustment Bureau? Is the Chairman ... a sexist?

RC: We never really meet the Chairman ... perhaps he is a she. Who knows? Like all great science fiction, The Adjustment Bureau isn't as much about the ideas — do we have free will or just the illusion of free will? — as much as it is about the characters. Without strong leads this might have been a mishmash of arbitrary, unbelievable details, but with Blunt and Damon at the centre of it all, it gels.

MB: And good secondary characters, too. John Slattery is note-perfect, and the arrival of Terrence Stamp halfway through has to mean things are going to get rougher. But did Damon's campaign manager have to look so much like Eliot Spitzer? I found that unnerving.

Scene in brief

The Piano Man will be bringing the news — good and bad — this summer.

HarperCollins announced details Thursday about Billy Joel's The Book of Joel, coming out June 14. The memoir will take fans on an "emotional ride" from the writing of such favourites as Just the Way You Are and New York State of Mind to his broken marriage to Christie Brinkley and his struggles with depression and substance abuse.

Rodriguez set for Battle

Hollywood tomboy had no problem fitting into another 'tough girl' role for sci-fi flick Battle: Los Angeles

NED EHRBAR
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN LOS ANGELES

▶ Michelle Rodriguez stars in Battle: Los Angeles, which opens next Friday.

Michelle Rodriguez is no stranger to roles that put her in uniform, thanks to a tough girl image she's developed — and accepted — thanks to roles in Girlfight, The Fast and the Furious and Lost. In her latest, Battle: Los Angeles, Rodriguez goes full military as an Air Force tech sergeant trying to stop an alien invasion. Metro spoke with Rodriguez about being a tomboy, breaking character on set and her rather detailed thoughts on aliens.

What was it about this film that made you want to do it?

(Director) Jonathan (Liebesman)'s style. You read a script and you think, "OK, this is a doable script. It's a cool alien invasion flick." The other 50 per cent of what's going to yay or nay it for me is what the aliens look like and how you're going to shoot it. Most of the time if you see an alien invasion film and it's titled Battle: Los Angeles, you would just imagine the Hollywood sign being blown up. You imagine iconic, macrocosmic images of explosions, and nothing personal or intimate. And what attracted me to the film is that I felt it was going to be about the story of these guys and trying to survive, and it would be intimate.

Was it hard to find your place among all the guys?

No, I'm kind of used to it now. The tomboy thing is pretty much my world. It was easy. We were playing video games in between takes, chilling. I actually got a little bit too close with the boys. Those protein shakes, you know, can make you talk without opening your mouth, let's put it that way. Not cute.

Is it true that Aaron Eckhart stayed in character for the whole shoot?

Yeah, I didn't meet him until a couple of weeks ago. I met Sgt. Nantz. I know he hated having my ass on set. You hear somebody cackling as soon as they say, "Cut." I'm totally breaking the concentration. I'm over here laughing my ass off every five seconds. Yeah, I'm pretty annoying for tactical actors. You know, guys who do that thing.

Do you believe in aliens and UFOs?

I've never seen one. I do believe in the possibility of them. Just because we can only perceive four per cent of existence, the other 96 per cent is a mystery. I just have to be open to the idea, you know? I can't close my mind to it. It just wouldn't be logical to me. And if they did exist, I don't believe they would be violent just because to travel light years away, you would have to embody more light than be a solid, crystalized creature like humans are. I just can't imagine them being violent in any way, shape or form. I find that to be more of a human trait because we decay and we're more close to life and death than I think light creatures would be. You know? I think if you were an inter-dimensional creature, you would just have to be enlightened in some way.

Bechard dishes out Sweet Karma

The grim, grimy confines of the rape/revenge/vigilante film are generally housed in the 1970's, that edgy era where censors were more relaxed and hardcore pornography was an almost respectable way to spend a night at the movie theatres.

The spirit of those gritty flicks still live on today, exploiting a simple moralistic — and worryingly voyeuristic — formula to always controversial and often lucrative returns.

Director Andrew Hunt's new low-budget thriller Sweet Karma is yet another example of the genre but one which boasts an alarmingly good anti-heroine as its lead: up and coming Playboy Playmate Shera Bechard. The tiny, easy on the eyes model stars as a Russian girl who intentionally falls into a Toronto-based human sex trafficking ring to find her missing sister.

"I do all kinds of horrible things to people in this movie," Bechard said. "But I am the good guy. I'm avenging my sister's murder and the characters who get theirs, totally deserve it."

These horrible things include stabbing, strangling, crushing and shooting her tormentors all the while remaining mute. That's right, Bechard's actions are done without the aid of speech.

"I know Andrew (Hunt) was a fan of the exploitation film genre," says Bechard, "and one of the movies I watched was called Thriller: A Cruel Picture, with Christina Lindburgh. She never spoke in that film and yet she's iconic and a major screen presence."

Attempt at broad appeal dooms Rango

Rango
Genre: Animated
Director: Gore Verbinski
Stars: Johnny Depp, Isla Fisher, Timothy Olyphant
●½

Rango is a big expensive mess of a movie from director Gore Verbinski, recalling his aggravatingly assaultive attempts at entertainment in the Pirates Of The Caribbean sequels. The film piles on interminable action set pieces, one-note characters attempting humour, and an endless stream of confused movie references that only serves to remind the audience of better movies that they'd rather be watching.

The movie is a Western homage that sees Johnny Depp's wacky lizard take over as the sheriff of a one-horse town populated by anthropomorphized desert scavengers who use water for currency. The screenplay mixes broad jokes that will make adults' eyes roll with pop culture references and crude humour that will fly over the heads of children (unless they are familiar with Hunter S. Thompson and mammograms, of course). Rango won't entirely appeal to either audience.

● PHIL BROWN

Beastly
Genre: Drama
Director: Daniel Barnz
Stars: Vanessa Hudgens, Alex Pettyfer
●½

If you ever doubted that beauty is only skin deep, Beastly will drive that message into your head with the subtlety of a cricket bat. In this take on Beauty and the Beast, an unlikeable rich kid is cursed with scars (and the phrase "embrace the suck" in place of eyebrows) until he can get someone to love him. However, fumbling dialogue and little chemistry between the leads will do little to earn the love of audiences, unless of course they embrace the suck. ● STEVE GOW

Curling
Genre: Drama
Director: Denis Cote
Stars: Emmanuel Bilodeau, Philomene Bilodeau,
●●●

Dennis Cote's latest film is a disturbing character study about a father who shields his daughter from the world. At 12 she has never been to school and seems incapable of even basic math. Though he seems incapable of physical abuse, the way he controls and limits his daughter's experience is undeniably unsettling and fascinating. Unfortunately Cote doesn't seem to know what to do with his characters.

● PHIL BROWN

I Love You, Philip Morris
Genre: Comedy/Drama
Directors: Glenn Ficarra, John Requa
Stars: Jim Carrey, Ewan McGregor
●●●½

Jim Carrey's performance in Glenn Ficarra and John Requa's fact-based (and unfortunately long-shelved) comedy suggests Liar, Liar overlaid with melancholy. Playing a pathological liar whose endless scheming alienates the love of his life (Ewan McGregor), the former Ace Ventura comes up with the most complex performance of his career. The film is uneven, but enough of the gags work — including an audacious final twist that has to be seen to be believed. ● ADAM NAYMAN

Nora's Will
Genre: Comedy/Drama
Director: Mariana Chenillo
Stars: Fernando Lujan, Enrique Arreola
●●

After organizing a Passover feast, an elderly Mexican woman named Nora commits suicide, leaving her depressed ex-husband Jose to run the celebration. Jose reluctantly takes over as the holiday host. It was all an intricate plot constructed by Nora to make her ex-husband open up and the movie is sadly as manipulative and predictable as Nora's plan.

● PHIL BROWN

Funkytown
Genre: Drama
Director: Daniel Roby
Stars: Patrick Huard, Justin Chatwin, Heidi Hawkins
●●●

Funkytown revives Montreal's disco era with a vivid cocktail of polyester, cocaine and tragedy. The film revolves around an afternoon disco TV show. A cast of characters all mingle through sex 'n' drugs before everyone's breezy disco dreams are inevitably crushed by hard reality in the '80s. It's a world that's been explored many times before in movies and Daniel Roby's edition of the tale is decent, if unspectacular.

● PHIL BROWN

Machete Maidens Unleashed
Genre: Documentary
Director: Mark Hartley
Stars: Roger Corman, Joe Dante, Sid Haig
●●●½

Though sadly lacking many machetes maidens, this ridiculously entertaining documentary explores the robust Filipino exploitation movie-making scene of the '60s and '70s. Director Mark Hartley assembled interviews with key players like Roger Corman to form a poignantly nostalgic look at a forgotten period of outlaw filmmaking.

Happiness for couples is a satisfying sex life.

Erosyn™ is the only product that helps most women to restore libido, desire and the ability to climax. There is no drug or natural product like it.

Eroxil™ helps most men to perform like in their 20's. Evidence of a few hundred testimonials on our web site with full names and towns. All 100% true: ■ Eroxil is the best of all the supplements for men I've tried. Boosts my sex drive and I'm able to function anytime. Angus Gutke, 45, Calgary, AB ■ Regained virility in 3 days. My libido was restored for good sex. I've given it also to friends with the same results. One of them is a diabetic and overweight. Dr. Louis Rolland, 72, St. Hyacinthe, QC ■ Having orgasms off the Richter scale. It's like I'm a teenager again. The world owes you big time. Lawrie Roberts, 47, Toronto, ON ■ Wonderful to feel like a man again. It's wonderful to feel close to my wife again. # ARTHRITIS

Pain free in 2 weeks!

#1

This is what happened to me personally. After suffering for years I desperately tried everything, drugs, natural products,physiotherapy, acupuncture, magnets and nothing was of any real help. Finally I had relief in 2 weeks by taking shark cartilage that was specially processed to preserve the natural active ingredients. This is the kind we are now promoting. I realized then that there are over 50 million men and women that are battling the same illness and getting treatments that are not working well, otherwise we would not have this ongoing huge health problem. In the last 10 years we have helped tens of thousands of men and women to have less pain or no pain at all. This is a by-product of the food industry. No sharks are caught because of their bones/cartilage. Nick A. Jerch, President

We have real EVIDENCE that it works. On our web site you find over 100 testimonials with full names and towns. All 100% true. Skeptics may call them. Here are some examples: ■ Doctor suggested knee replacement after all his options failed with drugs and cortisone shots in knee and lower back. I recommend Bell Shark Cartilage to those millions suffering needlessly like I did for 40 years with arthritis in my knees. It's a shame that I was given drugs and injections all these years when a natural medicine could have spared me the endless torture day and night. Pat Laughlin, Coldwater, ON ■ My hip is 95% pain free. Pain killing drugs mask and Bell Shark Cartilage heals. Rebecca Hite, Oroville, CA ■ I tried another brand and pain came back. 2 weeks on Bell and pain is gone again. Gert Dupuis, Hanmer, ON ■ Cancelled knee replacement. I was in pain and limping. Have no more pain now. Can square dance for hours. Anton Melnychuk, Porcupine Plain, SK. ■ For 32 years I cried barrels of tears. Was in and out of hospitals costing society tens of thousands of dollars. I have taken many thousands of pills that nearly killed me. Finally 3 bottles of Bell Shark Cartilage costing less than $100 stopped a lifetime of suffering without side effects. Eleanor Sauson, Shigawake, QC ■ Others write: Can walk again for hours…Climb stairs without hanging on to railing…First time in 15 years can sleep at night…Rheumatoid pain in joints down 90%, same for my sister.

We all scream for Fallon

Host celebrates two years of television by branding his very own Late Night snack

As Jimmy Fallon celebrates his second anniversary hosting Late Night, what he eats for dessert should be a no-brainer: a brand-new ice cream flavour named for his show.

The scoop about Ben & Jerry's Late Night Snack was timed to the milestone Fallon marked on Wednesday, two years after he took over for Conan O'Brien as host of the NBC talk show (which airs weeknights at 12:35 a.m. EST).

"I'm still enjoying it as much as I did when we first got started," Fallon said earlier this week. "It's so much fun!"

"Back then, the audience didn't know what to expect. I didn't even know what to expect!"

Everybody knows now: goofy, playful comedy and jovial chat, plus his powerhouse band, The Roots. With that formula, Fallon's Late Night has settled into a robust battle with its CBS rival, The Late Late Show With Craig Ferguson — a ratings battle that often tips in Fallon's favour.

And now he has his own ice cream, too.

Previously, Ben & Jerry's flavours have saluted such show-biz figures as Stephen Colbert (Stephen Colbert's Americone Dream), Elton John (Goodbye Yellow Brickle Road), Jerry Garcia (Cherry Garcia) and Vermont-bred rockers Phish (Phish Food).

But Fallon is the first broadcast late-night TV host to be so honoured.

"I creamed them," he said with a chuckle, speaking of his competitors, adding, "They will want to eat it."

Its development inadvertently got churning last summer when Fallon performed a musical tribute to Ben & Jerry's with his spoof vocal group, Ladysmith Snack Mambazo.

▶ How sweet it is: Jimmy Fallon, left, stacks frozen waffles on the hands of actress Isla Fisher in order to break a record during a taping of his show.

After that, Ben & Jerry's contacted the show and requested a meeting.

"They set up ice cream in our conference room, started talking, and asked if we wanted to do our own flavour," Fallon recalled. "We said, 'Are you kidding?! That's living the dream!'"

But they had to solve this problem: What should be the ice cream's key ingredient that would signify a late-night snack? Fig Newtons and Grape-Nuts fell by the wayside.

Then Fallon and his executive producer Michael Shoemaker hit on an odd but winning snack component: potato chips.

The Ben & Jerry's people figured out a way to crush the chips and transform them into clusters, which, coated in chocolate, were mixed into vanilla ice cream with caramel swirls as a sweet-and-salty treat.

Now, having licked that challenge, Fallon is looking ahead to a new year he envisions as even sweeter than before.

▶ The Secret of the Kells was nominated for best animated film at the 2010 Academy Awards. The movie is being screened as part of the Toronto Irish Film Festival this Sunday.

Toronto gets a taste of Irish film

New festival shows off Ireland's cinema tales Lets people watch movies they normally wouldn't get to see

ADAM NAYMAN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Toronto has a reputation of supporting film festivals of all shapes and sizes. And it can now add one more, the Toronto Irish Film Festival, which makes its debut on Sunday at TIFF Bell Lightbox with a program of short and feature-length films.

It was announced earlier this week that Ray Bassett, the Irish ambassador to Canada, will be attending TIRFF, which is clearly a coup for a festival in its first year. But for festival co-founder Michael Barry, the goal was to reach out to the 500,000 people across the GTA who claim some form of Irish heritage.

"We looked at the Irish cultural calendar, which of course has a lot of events in March," he says. "Yet there's nothing centred around film. It was important for us to show, as Ireland goes through a financial crisis, that the tradition of Irish storytelling in hard times was still going strong."

▶ Movies. The Toronto Irish Film Festival takes place this Sunday at the TIFF Bell Lightbox. For more info, go to torontoirishfilmfestival.com.

Three of the four films screening at the festival are animated and feature a high pedigree: the Celtic fable The Secret of Kells was up for a best animated feature Oscar in 2010, while Give Up Yer Aul Sins and Granny O'Grimm's Sleeping Beauty both earned nods in the Best Animated Short Film category for the Dublin animation studio Brown Bag Films.

The one live-action entry is Ken Wardrop's documentary His & Hers, a Sundance hit in 2010 that pays homage to the filmmaker's mother by examining the lives and relationships of 70 women of all ages from the Irish midlands.

"It's a very powerful mediation on love," says Barry, who promises that TIRFF will embrace a wider range of genres as it continues to grow. "We think that our role moving forward is to be the provider of those Irish movies that you wouldn't normally get to see."

BANDS TO WATCH DURING CANADIAN MUSIC WEEK

Sound Check

ALAN CROSS

With the 29th edition of Canadian Music Week set to start in Toronto on Wednesday, the city is preparing for the annual invasion of more than 800 acts from around the planet who will somehow manage to play gigs in 55 venues over just five nights. It's like the flooding of the Nile during a plague of locusts. Only drunker.

While the industry folk will be caught up in the conference with its panels, speakers and awards ceremonies, everyone else can focus on figuring out which band to see. Here are some recommendations from me along with links to more music.

Altan Vrag
When I say that bands come from around the world to play CMW, I'm not kidding. The seven members of this group from Ulaanbaatar, Mongolia and are committed to merging traditional Mongolian music with something more contemporary. altanurag.mn

Berri Txarrak
Their name translates as "Bad News" from Euskara, the language of Basque country along the Spain-France border. Tim McIllrath of Rise Against is a big fan of their kind of punk rock and has recorded at least one song with them. bit.ly/e8lc1m

The Coppertone
A Toronto trio led by the very red-haired Amanda Zelina. When Billy Gibbons of ZZ Top saw Amanda play in a vintage guitar shop in Hollywood, he predicted that she will go far. I agree with him. thecoppertone.com

Freedom or Death
This Toronto bunch was much hyped leading into their appearance at CMJ in New York last October — and with good reason. They have a new EP entitled EGO coming April 26. myspace.com/freedomordeathmusic

The Hippy Mafia
Happy Mondays' drummer Gaz Whelan was persuaded by his wife to move from Manchester to Burlington, Ont., on the basis of a real estate show she saw on TV. The first thing he did was form a band. With big-name management on the horizon, this is one band you do not want to miss. thehippymafia.com

Jackson tributes on Glee?

Scream! The cast of Glee could be planning a Michael or Janet Jackson tribute — that's if Glee star Amber Riley can get her way.

"I think it would be prolific for us to do Janet Jackson," said Riley, who stars as divalike glee club member Mercedes Jones.

Riley also said a tribute to the King of Pop is overdue.

"We did a mini tribute to Michael Jackson, but we really want to do a full tribute to Michael Jackson because his music is so timeless, so we really want to touch (on) that," she said. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ Lady Gaga

'This is my chance'

Ten-year-old Canadian YouTube star Maria Aragon said she couldn't wait to join Lady Gaga onstage on Thursday night in Toronto.

And then she'd like to have her life get back to normal, at least just a little bit.

A little over two weeks ago, Winnipeg-native Aragon posted a cover of Lady Gaga's Born This Way to YouTube, one of dozens of videos she's put online.

But this one exploded in popularity after Lady Gaga herself saw the video and posted a link on Twitter. Aragon has been on a whirlwind media tour ever since and her video now has more than 17 million views.

She hit The Ellen DeGeneres Show, Good Morning America and on Thursday visited the studio of Toronto's 99.9 Virgin Radio to talk about being invited by Lady Gaga to perform at the Air Canada Centre.

"This is my chance, I really want to be a musician in my life and this is a great opportunity for me." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sheen continues downward spiral while experts wonder if he's bipolar

GETTY IMAGES FILE

As Charlie Sheen's media blitz following the cancelation of his sitcom continues, experts worry that the actor is showing signs of bipolar disorder, according to Popeater.

"He looks bipolar. He's in a particularly manic phase," psychologist Stuart Fischoff tells the website.

"His reality testing has been severely impaired, marked by delusions of grandeur. His head now is as large as the moon."

Sheen certainly thinks highly of himself, as he proved in an interview with ABC's 20/20.

"You borrow my brain for five seconds and just be like, 'Dude, can't handle it! Unplug this bastard!'" Sheen said. "It fires in a way that is perhaps not from this terrestrial realm."

When asked in a recent interview if he thought he was bipolar, he responded with some more of his now legendary quotes.

"What's the cure? Medicine? Make me like them? Not gonna happen. I'm biwinning. I win here. I win there."

Sheen certainly wasn't winning earlier this week when his 23-month-old sons were removed from his home Tuesday night after Brooke Mueller Sheen claimed that he threatened her with decapitation. This now adds a nasty custody battle to the actor's bitter war with the studio and producers who shut down his hit CBS show.

TOGETHER AGAIN!

When Barbie and Ken showed up at the New York Fashion Week recently, the spotlight moved from the runways to this dazzling pair who have been spotted just about everywhere in the past month! Tanned and relaxed after a week skiing in Vail, Barbie was a real doll in a scarlet lace Oscar de la Renta gown. Ken wore a classic Armani tux. Sources say the quintessential couple used Barbie's glam vacation jet to get to the Big Apple... and now they're winging their way to Bora Bora in French Polynesia for a little more R&R. Sigh.

No rehab for Christina Aguilera

PEOPLE. Despite her arrest earlier this week for public intoxication, Christina Aguilera isn't heading to rehab.

Instead, she's heading to TV. Aguilera announced that she'll be a judge on NBC's new reality competition show, The Voice, along with Cee Lo Green and Adam Levine.

"I am so excited to be part of such a wonderful project that celebrates music and the talent behind it," Aguilera says, according to Hollyscoop.

"To be given the opportunity to help shape new artists' careers and mentor them to see their dreams come to fruition is a task I welcome with open arms."

Scarlett and Sean Penn hooking up?

PEOPLE Scarlett Johansson and Sean Penn reportedly enjoyed a whirlwind trip to Mexico earlier this week, jetting to Cabo San Lucas by a private jet for a lobster dinner Tuesday night and returning to Los Angeles Wednesday, according to People magazine.

The pair were also spotted sharing an intimate lunch at a Cuban restaurant in L.A., with Johansson resting her leg in Penn's lap, according to sources. Johansson's rep has previously denied the pair are dating. METRO

Even sober people go on Celeb Rehab

PEOPLE. Lindsay Lohan is reportedly "shocked and upset" by dad Michael Lohan's decision to join the new cast of Celebrity Rehab, according to TMZ.

Friends say Lindsay is worried Michael will embarrass the family but is most upset with the fact that he started taping the show without even telling her about it.

The real question is why Michael, who is "100 per cent sober," according to Radar Online, is doing the show to begin with. Michael "has a lot of unresolved feelings of anger toward (ex-wife) Dina (Lohan), and that needs to be dealt with," a source close to the show explains. "Producers of the show are hoping that Lindsay, Dina and the other children would consider appearing on the show for family counselling."

Baby, it's cold outside so warm up with port

PETER ROCKWELL
LIQUIDASSETS@EASTLINK.CA
TWITTER: @THEREALWINEGUY

Though I associate a lot of four letter words with winter, my favourite has got to be "port": the delectably fortified goodness that is Portugal's liquid claim to fame and the perfect thing to sip on when the weather outside is frightful.

There are four main varieties of true Portuguese port.

The lightest are called Ruby because of their bright colour and fresh, youthful charm.

Those designated Tawny are made by blending a variety of wines of either different or the same ages to create a balanced wine that's still rich and complex.

Late bottled vintage versions are made from a blend of wines that share the same vintage, and vintage styles are wines made from grapes grown in a single year.

It all seems simple until the juice hits your mouth.

There, the combination of higher alcohol and complexity of flavours can come across as unsettling as any recent Charlie Sheen interview.

Port is always interesting but rarely cheap. A great place to start is somewhere in the middle like Taylor Fladgate's 10 Year Old Tawny ($34.95 - $40.48).

Up-front raisin/plum fruit, a subtle nuttiness and a long, sophisticated sweetness, make for near port perfection.

PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

DINNER EXPRESS

EMILY RICHARDS
FOOD@METRONEWS.CA

A slice of this King Cake (recipe adapted from The Associated Press) should get you in the mood. It is decorated with Mardi Gras colours.

Preparation:

1. In a bowl of stand mixer fitted with dough hook, combine milk, sugar, rind, eggs, egg yolks and butter. With mixer running on low, add nutmeg, salt, yeast and flour. Mix until dough comes together and is soft and sticky adding more flour if necessary. Increase mixer speed and knead for about 5 minutes. Cover and allow to rise for 1 hour or until doubled.
2. Filling: In saucepan, combine raisins with water to cover. Bring to boil. Remove from heat and let stand for 15 minutes. Drain; pat dry.
3. In food processor, combine raisins, cream cheese, sugar, flour and cinnamon. Pulse until combined. Add pecans and pulse until mixed.
4. Turn dough onto a lightly floured surface. Roll into a rectangle, about 22 by 14 inches (56 x 35 cm). Spread filling over dough, leaving a 2-inch (5 cm) border along the edges. Starting with one long edge, roll dough up into a tight log starting. Pinch seam and place on greased baking sheet bringing the ends together to form a ring. Loosely cover and let rise for about 1 hour.
5. Bake cake in centre of 350 F (180 C) oven for 45 to 55 minutes. Transfer to a wire rack to cool.
6. Icing: In bowl, stir sugar and lemon juice until smooth. Drizzle over top of cake and sprinkle with sugars before icing hardens.

Mozart in a glass

FLICKR: JEZ.ATKINSON

Convinced that music is a key ingredient for a good bottle of wine, an Austrian man has invented a special speaker that exposes fermenting grape juice to classical, jazz or electronic tunes.

Markus Bachmann theorizes that the sound waves emanating from his speaker move yeast particles around and, among other things, cause them to eat up greater amounts of sugar, resulting in a wine that has a lower overall sugar content.

Bachmann has teamed up with six Austrian wine growers and an initial 31,000 litres of so-called Sonor Wines, priced at about 19 to 25 euros ($26 to $34), will go on sale soon.

Tampa: More than a side trip

CHRIS O'MEARA/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than Busch Gardens and baseball, Tampa is now an arts destination The Salvador Dali Museum is the latest in a string of splashy arts venues to open on Florida's west coast

Dali, Chihuly and Degas? It's possible to see all three in one weekend in the Tampa Bay area — and still have time to savour the beach.

The opening of the new Salvador Dali Museum in St. Petersburg this January is the latest in a string of splashy arts venues on Florida's west coast.

The $33-million Tampa Museum of Art — soon to host a Degas show — opened in February of 2010. And the Chihuly Collection, a permanent gallery devoted to the vibrant glassworks of Washington artist Dale Chihuly, was unveiled across the bay in St. Petersburg in July.

Add these to the 2008 renovation and expansion of the Museum of Fine Arts in St. Petersburg, and the area has suddenly become much more than a side trip from Orlando to see Busch Gardens or spring training ball games. Instead, it's now an arts destination in its own right.

Most visitors will be drawn to the area by the new Dali museum, a $36-million building that features a stunning collection of Dali's works. It replaces the old Dali Museum, more than doubling the exhibition space for what is considered the world's most comprehensive collection of the Surrealist master's work — even surpassing the Dali Theatre and Museum in Figueres, Spain.

CHRIS O'MEARA/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ Shooting through the windows of the Salvador Dali Museum.

The sleek concrete building is graced by the Glass Enigma, a wave of glass panelling that undulates around the building and shifts hue and colour with the Florida sunshine. Architect Yann Weymouth, who had a hand in creating the glass pyramid at the Louvre in Paris, designed the new museum.

Just stepping inside the museum is a surreal experience. It's worth spending a few minutes contemplating the tall, helix-like concrete spiral staircase that stretches from the ticket counter to the third floor. (Dali was fascinated by spiral forms and DNA, hence the staircase's design.)

While the Dali Museum is likely to be the starring attraction of any arts-themed trip here, the other arts venues are worth noting. Don't miss Ruby Red Icicle Chandelier at the Chihuly Collection, which also offers studio edition glass for purchase.

The Chihuly Collection is presented by the Morean Arts Center, which has a separate venue about 1.5 kilometres away. There you'll find art classes, exhibitions and workshops.

If you're visiting this month, the Tampa Museum of Art will host a Degas exhibit with sculptures and paintings, March 12 to June 19, in addition to its collection of American modernist and realist works.

Injured Williams says he'll be on court in London

New Jersey Nets point guard Deron Williams will play Friday, despite a wrist and hand injury, against the Toronto Raptors in the NBA's first regular-season game in Europe.

Williams, who was traded from the Utah Jazz last week, has a strained right wrist and bruised left hand. "I'm playing," said Williams on Wednesday. He strained his wrist before coming to the Nets, and bruised his other hand on Monday in an overtime loss to the Phoenix Suns.

Nets coach Avery Johnson seemed comfortable with Williams' status for the game at the O2 Arena in London, the first of two "home" games against the Raptors.

"He's in good shape right now," Johnson said.

The Nets have only played one home game since Williams joined the team, and they are giving up two more to be in the British capital this weekend.

"It's not easy necessarily losing home games, and no NBA team necessarily wants to do it," Johnson said. "But you're going to see this happening more and more, and especially with our team with the presence of our owner (Russian businessman) Mikhail Prokhorov."

Both teams have Europeans on their rosters. The Raptors boast Italy centre Andrea Bargnani and Spain guard Jose Calderon, two of the best continental players in the NBA.

"I definitely think we have an advantage with Andrea, Jose," Raptors guard DeMar DeRozan said. "People over here have definitely seen them play before. We have the home-court advantage."

Ex-Leaf Versteeg scores twice for Flyers, but Toronto still takes game

Darryl Boyce scored the go-ahead goal late in the third period to rally the Toronto Maple Leafs to a 3-2 win over the Philadelphia Flyers on Thursday night.

Boyce's goal with 4:30 left gave the Maple Leafs a win in their ninth straight one-goal game (6-0-3). Toronto continued its late push into the Eastern Conference playoff race and has a seventh or eighth seed in sight.

Nikolai Kulemin and Dion Phaneuf also scored for the Maple Leafs, who trailed 2-1 late in the second period.

Kris Versteeg scored twice for the Flyers against his former team. Toronto traded him to Philadelphia last month.

The Flyers lost consecutive games for the first time since Dec. 20 and 28th.

The Maple Leafs continue to shine in the tight games. They've earned a point in 14 of 16 games since the all-star break to jump into playoff contention.

They've done it without Versteeg — who nearly cost them a needed victory.

He scored goals in the first and second periods to put the Eastern Conference-leading Flyers ahead late in the second, which has almost been an automatic win for them this season.

Phaneuf tapped in a rebound with 10.5 seconds left in the second period that tied the game 2-2 and sucked the momentum away from the Flyers.

The Maple Leafs caught a huge break midway through the third when James van Riemsdyk's slapper popped out of James Reimer's mitt and almost into the net when it was cleared out before it cost them the go-ahead goal.

Boyce capitalized when Toronto won the battle for the puck behind the net and slipped it past Sergei Bobrovsky for the winner and his fourth goal of the season.

Philadelphia's Jeff Carter, Darroll Powe and Dan Carcillo all skipped the game with flu-like symptoms. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto (17-44) is looking to gain some ground on New Jersey in the first half of its British double-header, as the Nets have a slim one-game edge in the standings. Game 1 is in London's O2 Arena.

New Jersey (17-43) is hoping to become the worldwide face of the NBA behind its high-profile owners Russian billionaire Mikhail Prokhorov and rapper Jay-Z. Newly acquired point guard Deron Williams will help breathe some life into the Nets and may increase their international exposure.

WE'RE GROWING UP

Opinion

SCOTT RUSSELL
FIELD OF PLAY

For Canada these are halcyon days.

Gone is the stereotypical notion that we are a country of hockey players and curlers … end of story. Consider the exploits of Milos Raonic on the tennis courts, Joey Votto, one of Major League Baseball's most valuable performers, or the timeless Steve Nash of basketball fame.

Three recent happenings, however, constitute a revelation in terms of how Canada is regarded as a maturing sporting nation.

The first is Erik Guay's downhill victory at last month's alpine skiing world championships in Germany.

Guay's win was surprising given his performance this season. But his triumph was not unforeseen or a fluke based on his past record.

He is, after all, a Crystal Globe winner as the World Cup super-G champion and at the Olympics missed two gold medals by a whisker. Also, the man Guay succeeded as world champion is another Canadian, namely John Kucera.

Next is the historic gold-medal victory by the cross-country sprint relay team of Devon Kershaw and Alex Harvey at the Nordic world championships in Oslo, Norway.

Again, it was not — repeat not — a surprise.

Kershaw had won four medals at the earlier Tour de Ski and along with Harvey combined for a close fourth-place finish at the Olympics in Whistler in this very event.

But the breakthrough is real because, for the very first time, it puts Canadian men on top in one of the world's most contested winter sports.

Nordic skiing pre-dates alpine skiing in Olympic history and the competitive field of play is ultra-deep.

Finally, news that Canada will host the 2015 FIFA Women's World Cup is groundbreaking.

It matters not that Canada is the only country to go the distance in the bid process.

What does count is there are more than 375,000 registered, female soccer players in this country, nearly an even split with males. That compares with about 85,000 women who play hockey.

Soccer has more formal participants than any other sport in Canada and it's not even close.

All of which means the chance for Canada to host the world and continue the effort to discover gender equality in high-performance sport is both exciting and commendable.

These are great days for Canada.

In terms of sport, the country is becoming a leading citizen in a much wider world of human endeavour.

Canadian soccer gets a boost with Women's World Cup

FIFA has thrown the ball in Canada's corner. Now it is up to Canadian soccer to do something with it.

Thursday's announcement that Canada will host the 2015 Women's World Cup was hardly unexpected — the Canadian Soccer Association was the sole bidder remaining from the original seven who showed interest — but it will have a ripple effect across the country.

Canadian soccer's governing body, for one, has an even greater impetus to sort out the current pay impasse with the national women's team and to ensure that Italian coach Carolina Morace remains on board to steer the talented team towards 2015 success.

Candidate cities Edmonton, Halifax, Montreal, Moncton, Ottawa, Winnipeg and Vancouver will look to strengthen their claim for pieces of the 2015 tournament and the 2014 U-20 Women's World Cup that comes with it.

The exact makeup of host cities will be determined after a series of FIFA reviews. The CSA says there will be a minimum of six venues.

"The one thing we wanted to do was coast to coast," Peter Montopoli, general secretary of the Canadian Soccer Association, said in an interview from Zurich. "It will be the first time in our country that we've ever held an event at the same time, that everybody across the country can touch and feel."

The tournament will start in June 2015, running into July, though the dates are not set yet.

"Why have we chosen Canada? Well, Canada has already done a great job for women's football," FIFA president Sepp Blatter, speaking in French, said in Zurich. "They've proven that they're great organizers and that the women's football, certainly, has a future in your country."

Staging the World Cup is a chance to showcase both the host country abroad and the sport at home. Success on the field and positive ratings on TV will only serve to improve soccer in the national pecking order.

"This is another opportunity for Canada to welcome the world, to bring them here," Gary Lunn, minister of state (Sport), said in Ottawa.

For the World Cup, the CSA is looking at Commonwealth Stadium in Edmonton, B.C. Place in Vancouver, Olympic Stadium in Montreal, Moncton Stadium, the football stadium under construction in Winnipeg, the revamped Lansdowne Park in Ottawa and a proposed new stadium in Halifax.

THE CANADIAN PRESS

Why not us?

Those in Toronto may well wonder why Canada's largest city is not part of the current plan.

- Peter Montopoli said Toronto was invited to be part of the bid process.
- "In early November, we received a letter from Toronto Tourism, representing the city, indicating they no longer wanted to be a part of the bid for the FIFA Women's World Cup," said Montopoli.
- A spokeswoman for Toronto Tourism said Thursday that CEO David Whitaker was unavailable.

NFL, union agree to 24-hour extension

Collective bargaining agreement had been set to expire at midnight

CLIFF OWEN/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ NFL Players Association executive director DeMaurice Smith speaks to the media on Thursday.

America's favourite sport is still in business — for another day.

The NFL and the players' union agreed Thursday to a 24-hour extension of the current collective bargaining agreement so that negotiations can continue.

Indianapolis Colts centre Jeff Saturday, a member of the NFL Players Association's executive committee, told The Associated Press about the extension after the sides met for about eight hours before a federal mediator. The CBA was set to expire at midnight, which would likely have prompted the first work stoppage since 1987 for a league that rakes in $9 billion US a year.

"We just know right now that we granted a 24-hour extension," Saturday said as he and Steelers quarterback Charlie Batch left the session.

Union executive director DeMaurice Smith emerged from the talks soon after.

"For all our fans who dig our game, we appreciate your patience as we work through this," he said. "We are going to keep working. We want to play football."

Failing to make a deal could put the two sides on the road to a year without football, even though opening kickoff of the 2011 season is still six months away. The labour unrest comes as the NFL is at the height of its popularity, breaking records for TV ratings: This year's Super Bowl was the most-watched program in U.S. history.

Without a new CBA, the owners could lock out the players, and the union could decertify to try and prevent that through the courts — something the NFLPA did in 1989. It formed again in 1993.

While the league and players' union met for a 10th day with mediator George Cohen, even President Barack Obama weighed in when asked if he would intervene in the dispute.

"I'm a big football fan," Obama said, "but I also think that for an industry that's making $9 billion a year in revenue, they can figure out how to divide it up in a sensible way and be true to their fans, who are the ones who obviously allow for all the money that they're making. So my expectation and hope is that they will resolve it without me intervening, because it turns out I've got a lot of other stuff to do."

Canada gives Pakistan a scare

Pakistan slips to 67-4 in the 16th, but Canada's bats fizzle to fall to 0-3 at the Cricket World Cup

MICHAEL STEELE/GETTY IMAGES

▶ Harvir Baidwan of Canada gathers the ball and aims to run out Misbah-ul-Haq (not pictured) as Umar Akmal of Pakistan backs up Thursday.

Leading the way

Shahid Afridi steered Pakistan to a 46-run victory over Canada, taking five wickets and avoiding a major upset.

- Batting second and chasing a modest Pakistan total of 184, Canada failed to cope with the Pakistan captain Afridi's faster leg-spinners and was shot out for 138 in 42.5 overs.
- "It's a very good wake-up call for us for the next game," Afridi said.
- Canada's fast bowlers provided hope of an upset by dismissing Pakistan in 43 overs in the Group A match.
- Canada scored 122 and 123 runs in its other matches at the tournament.

Today's horoscope

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 You have never been the sort to wallow in self-pity and that's good because you'll need a positive attitude to handle what comes your way today. In the greater scheme of things, it's no big deal.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 Let everyone know you desire, and you will increase your chances of getting it. For every rival who might oppose your plans, you have 1,000 friends who can be called on to help.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 It may seem as if you have a mountain to climb but never doubt that you've got what it takes. You're a Gemini and that means you are versatile. You'll find a way to the top.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 Today's new moon will boost your energy and self-belief. But if you're wise, you'll start looking ahead and start gearing up to meet the demands you will face in the future.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug.23 Don't take anything too seriously today and don't get angry with people who have a habit of saying one thing and then doing something different. They can't help it. Unlike you, they lack drive and commitment.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 It may concern you that someone who can usually be counted on for support is now questioning your actions, but it's no big deal. Maybe there's a reason why he or she is losing faith.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 You know what needs to be done, so do it. You may be lacking motivation but this is one of those days when, if you push yourself harder, you will breeze through any challenge.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 Whatever it is you are trying to keep a secret from people will become public knowledge sooner or later. You might as well come clean. The reaction won't be as bad as you fear.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 Make allowances for those who seem reluctant to follow you on your latest adventure — some don't have what it takes. You may have to travel alone at first, but you'll soon pick up new friends.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 Make the most of the new moon in the most outgoing area of your chart to get yourself noticed. You don't want to appear too aloof today because it might work against your long-term interests.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 Money worries seem to be causing you grief but the new moon will show you how to get past your financial troubles. Yes, sacrifices will have to be made, but they're worth it.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 Today's new moon will inspire you to show the world that you are more than just a pretty face. You've always had talent — now you've got real ambition, too. SALLY BROMPTON
